Prom the San Francisco Post.

William M. Lent has commenced a libel suit in the Fourth District Court of this State, to recover $15,000 from Joseph T. Goodman, proprietor of the Territorial Enterprise, published in Virginia City, Nevada, for damages alleged to have been sustained by reason of an article published in that paper on the 31st of August, 1872, reflecting on the good name and character of the plaintiff. The article in question was a free expression of opinion on the intentions of those gentlemen who were at the head of the great diamond mine scheme, which exploded some months ago, and convinced the public that a gigantic swindle had been attempted. Mr. Lent was a prominent member of the diamond company, but claims that he was deceived by Arnold and his associates, and so far from being a party to the attempted fraud, he was a victim thereof, and lost a large sum of money in consequence. All that Mr. Lent claims may or may not be true. Evidence to prove one thing or the other will come to the surface before the close of the libel suit he has just commenced.

It is a matter of some assonishment to us that a gentleman who is so well known, and who has figured so prominently in so many mammoth enterprises as Mr. Lent, should feel that the commencement of this particular libel suit was a necessary proceeding to convince the people that he is free of all complicity in the great diamond swindle. Mr. Goodman will not defend himself by assuming a simply defensive position. He will make a vigorous aggressive fight, and in carrying the fight into Africa—the original starting point of Arnold's diamond sait—he will receive the sympathy of the public, and the support of the entire journalistic force of the Pacific coast. From the San Prancisco Post.

A Mother and Daughter Murdered.

St. Louis, March 7 .- Mrs. Nancy Lanxton, a widow, and her adopted daughter, 12 years old, were found dead in bed at their home in Mattoon, Ill., yesterday morning, with their throats cut from ear to car. A common case knife was sticking in the wound of Mrs Lanxton's throat, and her right hand grasping its handle. The bodies lay in a composed position, evidently having been arranged after death and nicely covered with bedcothes. A son of Mrs. Lanxion has been arrested on suspicion of having committed the murder.
